WE NOMINATE

Milton Lyon, 37-year old Pittsburgh-born master of the art (or science) of theatrics, who has accepted the challenging assignment of transforming 32-year old McCarter Theatre, once described as the "white elephant of all playhouses in the East", into a center of the performing arts for all of Princeton. In the year ahead, with the enthusiastic support of a specially appointed and drama-minded University Committee, Lyon and his associates will be given an opportunity to carry forward a program which could well create a precedent for the development of community theatres in this country.

Last week's public announcement of a nine-week McCarter fall program in 1960, the core of which will be six successive split-week presentations of world-famous comedies, culminated some two years of planning in which Lyon, professional director of the Princeton Triangle Club since 1955, played a strong supporting role. Largely upon his calculations rests the hope that McCarter can support a resident professional company, the first such university-sustained organization in this country; can integrate professional and local programming; and can succeed in staging, on a cyclical basis, a living anthology of world drama.

Well aware that the theatre in America constitutes a "completely unpredictable gamble", and concerned with wedding a hard-headed university to the illusions often purposely created by the theatre, Lyon brings to his new duties—Executive Director of McCarter as well as University Lecturer in Theatre Arts—a noteworthy degree of versatility. In the past two decades, starting with his high school years in Pittsburgh, he has been an actor, night-club entertainer, musical director in various parts of the country, manager, vocal coach, producer, arranger, piano soloist and stage director.

Lyon, whose early predilections for the drama were thwarted by a stuttering handicap that was corrected in his late 'teens by a skilled voice teacher, received his bachelor's degree in fine arts at the Carnegie Institute at age 20. A year later he was vocal director at the late-lamented Roxy Theatre, New York City, and was also manager of the Woodstock (N.Y.) Playhouse. A student of Princeton composer Roger Sessions, (when Sessions was at the University of California) and an Army Air Force veteran of World War II, Lyon started moving onward and upward in the middle 1940's.

Vocal preceptor for such luminaries as Barbara Cook, Gretchen Wyler, Geraldine Fitzgerald and Anthony Perkins, Lyon wrote music for the Equity Library Theatre and produced and "packaged" musicals. Among his assignments were the Sacramento (Calif.) Music Tent and the Flint and Detroit (Mich.) Music Circuses. He also found time for directing a series of major television spectacles and for undertaking supper club appearances in the New York-Palm Beach-Cleveland-Adirondack rectangle. It is significant that his 1960 Triangle Club production, "Breakfast in Bedlam," will tour Europe in July and August under the auspices of the Department of the Army.

For sensing the potential impact of the exploratory program recently announced by McCarter Theatre; for believing implicitly that here is an opportunity to strengthen the conception of the American community theatre; for looking to Princeton's future; he is Town Topics' nominee for

PRINCETON*QUESTION ANSWERED

Question: Population of Borough. For the last ten years of the past decade, Princeton Township has felt the impact of a constant real estate boom, has seen many a new street added to its tax map and many a school facility increased on frequent occasion to care for the steady influx of new pupils. How big, the question was often asked, will the Township be when the census-taker returns in 1960?

This week, a preliminary answer was ready. On the basis of statistics that have now come in, Princeton Township director Haymon H. Hubble told Town Forces that the Township's 1950 population of 5,407 has more than doubled. Just how much more will not be officially known until the figures are tallied next month, but it is apparent that the municipality's population might top 12,000.

Chances are that it will not equal the Borough figure, which was 12,230 in 1950 and will, of course, also be higher when the new tally is announced. The Borough, however, has reached a population density that can increase markedly only as new apartment buildings are added to the scene. New dormitories are built at the University, Society and Choir College. Only about three dozen vacant lots exist in the municipality for new residential dwellings.

Mr. Hubble reported two-thirds of the Princeton census has been completed, and that his crew of 22 enumerators hopes to finish the first stage of the work next week. Work on the second stage, which involves the more detailed "blue questionnaire" left at every fourth house, will not begin until after the first stage is completed. That aspect of the house-to-house canvassing is expected to take

The census director himself a resident of 115 Nassau Street) credited the increase in Borough residents partly to new construction and partly to the conversion of former single-family houses into apartments or two-family houses. The resident population of Princeton University, Westmount Choir College, Princeton Theological Seminary, which are included in the census, also helps to boost the Borough total.

"Taking the census turned out to be a much bigger job than we expected," Mr. Hubble said. "The enumerators have had a lot of trouble finding people at home, which has made extra work in callbacks. In addition, some people are away and can't be reached at all."

He said that while most people were cooperative, several problems had developed with residents who resented what they felt were "personal" questions. "They don't realize that this is a complete census," he said. Mr. Hubble said, "Every family is just a statistic to the census, and all the data is fed into machines."

Princeton is progressing at a rate that seems to be the crest of the country, where the census is about 80 percent complete. The expected population jump also tallies with that predicted for Mercer County, which is 70,000. The overall county population is estimated at about 300,000 this year, an increase of more than 70,000 over the 1950 figure of 229,781.

STEVENSON FOR PRESIDENT

According to Princetonians, although the write-in vote for president was naturally small, it's also significant in that the proportions over all others are hopeful. So said Princeton voters in Tuesday's primary election.

The three Democratic candidates received a combined total of 59 votes in the Borough and Township, while another candidate whose hat is not yet in the ring, the runner-up, Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York, a dark-horse Republican who might yet be drafted, drew 18.

In third place was the man off and running earliest of all: Vice-President Richard Nixon, with 12. Other voters: Senators John Kennedy, Hubert Humphrey, 2; Stuart Symington and Barry Goldwater, 1 apiece.

Other write-ins: In Princeton Township, Borough, and Township, Richard L. Ladd, 5 for Senator Symont, outgoing committee man Stanley J. Smoyer, 1 for a new term; in the Borough, township—Continued on Page 2

Joseph S. Hoff, now living in "Merwick," when retired this week as chairman of the board of directors of the First National Bank, thus ending 67 years of association with the institution which he helped found in 1893.
Mr. Hoff, who started an office to accept the first deposit, eventually served the bank in virtually every capacity. Named a director to succeed William G. Van Esch, executive vice-president of the Princeton Fuel Oil Co., a member of the Rotary Club of Princeton and a resident of Pennington.

Dr. A. Dale Console, New Casson Road, who told a Congressional investigating committee that the drugstore he was preparing to open at his public expense urged the enactment of restrictive legislation to curb research efforts "which are not really worthwhile but are still being pursued there for profit in it." A one-time director for Squibb Laboratories, Dr. Console created what may become a minor classic in the field with his charge that the drug industry's attitude toward the public is based on the maxim: "If you can't convince them, confuse them."

ROUND-UP

A general alarm sounded Saturday at 1:12 p.m. when a garage at the home of John W. Ballou, 112 Nassau Street, reported a brush fire... the shingle roof, believed to have been set ablaze by a nearby brush fire, burned off but that was extent of the damage... the driver of an old education car at the corner of Nassau and Vandeventer was the scene of a minor explosion last Friday at 9:24 a.m., causing a brief electrical failure... a short circuit, quickly re-paired, was listed by Borough Police as the cause.

Two young boys were injured in a race on a street which the automobile drivers said the youngsters ran into the side of their cars... On Friday afternoon, Christopher W. Nichols, 31 Carnegie Drive, came out of a driveway near his home on a tricycle and hit the side of a delivery truck, incurring minor injuries... 48 hours later, Steven

"EASTER PARADE" OF A GRIM NATURE: While hundreds of Princetonians were attending church services on Easter Sunday, pickets opposite Governor Meyer's home on Stockton Street paraded to back their plea for abolition of capital punishment in the state. On Tuesday, eight hours before the meeting, the Legislature adjourned without taking up the bill, which will now sit until next session when new evidence may be examined. Above are Steven Sievert, a Columbia University graduate student; Mrs. Hugo A. Bedau, wife of the Princeton University instructor who is secretary of the New Jersey League for Abolition of Capital Punishment; Michael Cavalone of Flemington; and Mrs. John K. Hemphill of the Princeton-Kingston Road. (Town Topics Photo by Alan Richards)

RIGHT WING CLIPPED

As Case Defeats, Morris' The invitation to the right to join his supporters to turn the Republican party in New Jersey far to the right was flatly rejected by the voters in Tuesday's primary election. By a vote of upwards of 2,000, Senator Clifford Case, a self-styled "liberal" in the G.O.P. ranks, was re-nominated as his party's candidate in November.

Princeton gave the right support to the incumbent, handing him every one of the eight borough and nine township districts. He polled 7,500 votes to 1,900 for Mr. Morris. In the Board of Education, Township backed him, 842 to 234.

Princetonian Thorn Lord was a favorite (16-1) to victory over the little-known candidate, New Jersey candidate, Richard Glassner of East Orange. The upcoming battle between Mr. Lord and Senator Case is expected to be one of the most interesting New Jersey has seen in many years.

Twenty-seven percent of the registered voters in the city went to the polls Tuesday, a figure better than double the normal turnout for a primary election with few races. The figure applied evenly to both Princeton townships.

Complimentary totals compiled in uncontested races here were:

Borough Council—Dr. Ellwood Godfrey (R), 710; Albert Austed (R), 709; Robert Van De Velde (D), 707; John Morton (D), 264; Township Committee—Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman (R), 862; Maurice Healy Jr. (R), 847; Richard Frost (D), 200; Simon Moss (D), 196; tax assessor Stuart Robson (R), 942. Mr. Robson is unopposed.

In common with the rest of Mercer County and elsewhere in the state, voter turnout sometimes occasionally broke down because of the large number of delegates' names on the ballot. Officials explaining that the number of delegates which had to be marking back into place electrically after the vote had been cast were sometimes more than the polling place had. The speculation is that New Jersey may follow the lead of other states and remove the names of delegates to presidential conventions from the ballot.

SNEAK THIEF CAUGHT

Princeton Man Confesses. Turnip Man Confesses. Turnip Man, 27, of 37 Leigh Avenue was arrested Wednesday night in Princeton and charged with breaking, entering and larceny, and held for the grand jury to await indictment. Township police said Stephens confessed to the crime which has plagued homeowners in Princeton Township for many months.

He was apprehended in Lawrenceville, N.J., after 11 p.m., as he drove from Princeton to Trenton in a borrowed car with items he reportedly had taken from the home of Miss Elizabeth Howe, 20, of Perry Road, early in the evening.

Township Detective Fred Porter, acting on information received from a homeowner after he robbery, caught up with Stephens on the road to Trenton, arrested him and found in his car a mink stole, mink coat and garments which he was carrying to Miss Howe. Total value of the stolen goods was estimated at $3,500.

Stephens was on parole from a workhouse sentence and because he violated parole, was held without bail in Mercer County jail. The owner of the car he borrowed was not involved in the robbery.

In addition to Miss Howe, four other Township residents were victimized by Stephens. He has admitted breaking, entering and theft at the home of Dr. James Hillier, Autumn Lane, and the home of Wheaton, 82 Winton Road, where he stole articles belonging to Mr. Lane and to his housekeeper, Martelle Kauffman.

Jewelry belonging to Miss Kauffman has been recovered from a catch-basin diagonally across the street from "Stephens" home, where he threw it because he thought it had no value. A

SINGERS WITH BERMAN

In Joint Appearance, The Gateway Singers, a group of four musicians who sing and play songs with the drive and bunt of modern jazz, will appear on the McCarter stage with Shelley Berman. After the monologuist comes to Princeton this Friday, April 24, and the Singers will give two performances, one at 7 and one at 9:20. Discovered at the "Hungry I" in New York a few years ago, the Gateway group has made many night-club and concert appearances in recent months. The Singers include Emerie Thomas, composer; Jim Waller, who plays the five-string banjo; Adam Fredericks, bass; and Marc Richards, guitarist.

The Gateway Singers perform for the first time beginning at half past seven. Shelley Berman's program before the monologuist appears. Mr. Berman will draw on his two record albums for his McCarter appearance and he will also present some new material.

ARTIST DESIGNED SETS

For the first time, Schill Maier, artist and teacher of set artists, has designed the black and white sets for "Clerambard," described by some critics as a black-and-white story. (That is, the story of a man who is either all good, or all bad.) "Clerambard" will be given Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in McCarter Theater. Mr. Maier has designed sets which are plain lines drawn on white panels. He has explained that the satiric yet simple story by Count Clerambard "made me get out my pencil and draw out of the least... I had to keep everything simple, yet attractive."

Tickets for the performance of "Clerambard" may be reserved by writing Box 526, Princeton, or calling WA 1-8700.

GREENE PLAY CHOSEN

By Players. Graham Greene's

"The Living Room" has been chosen by Princeton Community Players as their final play of the season. It will be given on June 3 and 4, and again from June 7 to 11, which is the Princeton Week.

Robert Wren, who directed the recent Players' production of "Pygmalion," will serve as director for "The Living Room."

HERE'S PINAFORE CAST

Savoyard Production Coming. Lee Bristol, Jr., will head the cast of "H.M.S. Pinafore," the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta to be presented at McCarter Auditorium April 29, 30 and May 7. Mr. Bristol will play "the monarch of the sea, the ruler of the Queen's Navy." He also had the lead in last year's production of "Iolanthe."

Mr. Bristol is director of public relations for Bristol-Meyers Production Services of the Princeton Choir College, the Berkeley Divinity School and vice-chairman of laymen's work in the Second Province of the Episcopal Church. He is also a member of the board of trustees of the Creative Education Foundation.

A composer and author, Mr. Bristol has written many articles and other musical compositions, and has published several books, including "A Seed for a Song" and the forthcoming "Developing the Corporate Image," which he edited.

Other cast members are Dr. Warren Dodson, "Captain Corcoran"; Mrs. Dodson, of the Village Light Opera Group, New York, where he sang in "Iolanthe"; Marianne White, "Buttercup," former choir director and singing teacher at McCarter; previously; and Sheldon Simon ("Ralph Rackstraw"), another veteran of last year's "Iolanthe." Mr. Simon will be featured tenor this summer with the McCarter Players, Cripple Creek, Colorado.

Reba Gillman, ("Josephine"), appeared at the Lafayette Opera Guild in Lafayette, Indiana, in "Iolanthe." Also, Diana Randall, who plays Hilda, is a sophomore at Westminster Choir

AN ANXIOUS PAIR? Jeffrey Moss and Georgine Hall enjoy a rare moment of relaxation in a scene from W. H. Auden's "Age of Anxiety" which will open Thursday, April 28, for a nine-day run in Murray Theater.

News Of The Theatres

College and Frank Fellman, who will be seen as Dick Deadeye, is a junior at Princeton.

MODERN TECHNIQUES USED

In "Anxiety", the latest techniques developed for use in the contemporary theater have been successfully applied. The first production of W. H. Auden's poem, "Age of Anxiety" which will open in Murray Theater next Thursday, April 28, will be shown next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 28-30, and again from Monday, May 2, through Saturday, May 7.

In some of the television sequences, Mr. Auden himself will appear, along with Sean O'Farrell and Jimmy Durante. The play will portray a group of people in an attempt to break the television tradition. (A fourth member of the "panel" may be Aldous Huxley, if arrangements can be made to get him on film.)

Complementing the television sequences will be an original Western, a thriller on the Frankenstein man, and a sponsor's special sequence which will be directed by Princeton actors: Miss Ella Pelham, Mrs. Donald C. Stuart, Jr., and Peter Cook, Jr.

Look out for the picture of the Third Avenue bar, there will be a juke box. Coming from the box will be the piano playing of John Hubbell, class of 1960, and the modern jazz of Norm Symonds, written especially for this production.

COMMITTEES NAMED

For the 1964-65 season, The Princeton Ballet Society's production of "Coppelia" and "Boite a Joujoux", to be given in McCarter Theater May 12 and 13, will have director, Christopher Estey, director of the Soeted, L. W. Estey will serve as production manager and Mrs. Nora Greenblatt will be musical director.

Mr. Michael Meinger is chairman of the costume committee consisting of Mrs. Albert Tolo, Mrs. H. F. Calot, Mrs. B. E. Scarsen and Mrs. Leigh Harris. Mrs. William B. Scarsen, Mrs. William B. Scarsen and Mrs. Joseph W. Donner are co-chairmen of the ticket committee.

Mrs. George Webster and Mrs. Thomas James are co-chairmen of patronage. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taplin and Mr. Ferdinand Scholten are in charge of publishing. The program with the assistance of a committee composed of Mrs. Richard Williams, Mrs. John Enders, Mrs. William J. Dobson, Mrs. J. P. ## IT'S NEW To Us

SPRING IN BLOOM

At Garden Market, the "bloom" is right for the future, but the promise is right now when you buy spring perennials from Rosedale Garden Market, on Alexander Street. (The work is right now, too; might as well eat a spade a spade.)

Hardy geraniums are the standard summer kind, not the creeping ground phlox of spring—day lilies in all sizes and colors, candelabra primroses in May, white astilbe for a border or phlox in white or purple. These are 75 cents a plant.

For summer savoring, try a herb garden. Rosedale has four kinds of thyme, including creeping thyme, and fragrant bouquets of English lavender.

Hibiscus is a good addition. In full pink bud, are $6.50 to $15, depending on size, and there are all sizes as well as all available colors. A magnolia grandiflora is $18.

We rather like the idea of something exotic like the Nandina Domestica, a bamboo tree of all things, with red berries just like a holly. Seems to thrive in New Jersey, and grows to a seven-foot look.

Another unusual plant is Rosedale's magnolia. It's not only sprays decorative, but not calling for fruit, and is decorative itself in the garden all year round because of its curious all-green appearance and its inch-long thorns.

Named varieties of English Holly are available, in berries, at the moment. You buy two of these, as you know, Chinese holly, on the other hand, is less appealing, so you save space and money.

An unusual Deodora cedar is part of Rosedale's nursery this spring, and its silvery blue feathers bring a new twist to the accent for your particular landscape.

Combie, Bellows combines everything this spring. The shop at Nassau and Moore has a rack of three-piece ensembles which will fill any space in your wardrobe, from cotton to silk. A silk plaid skirt in tiny sage-green checks

What, No Cream?

Instead of morning glories this spring, why not plant strawberries? Rosedale has some new climbing ones that will ascend, without oxygen, to about six feet or so if you give them a trellis, fence or wall to climb on.

They cost $2.50 per plant, but they will bear from spring until frost this year which is quite a remarkable variation from the usual balky strawberry schedule.

If you have neither trellis, fence or wall, you can plant them in a big tub with a stake for them to climb on. They need full sun and somebody who's willing to pick and eat.

has a sleeveless top with notched collar and an iron sweater trimmings with green silk.

Half-sleeved cardigan, in full pink bud, are $6.50 to $15, depending on size, and there are all sizes as well as all available colors. A magnolia grandiflora is $18.

McMullen and Hiram Walker sat down for lunch one day, and if you think that's an unlikely combination, you'll change your mind when you see the cordials served after.

There's a quartet of gently flaring linen skirts, cut simply and sewn well. One is green, one tan, one purple, and one apricot-orange. Some are simple, some don't know Hiram's. Actually, they are named for the colors of H. W. cordials, and instead of the shades mentioned above, the skirts are actually creme de menthe, creme de cacao, black raspberry and apricot.

On top of these you wear sleeveless, McMullen collared blouses in white with a variety of patterns. Green, mint leaves, apricots, coffee beans and black raspberries. With a sash to match, extra. Forget the promotional nonsense and buy them for themselves: superb colors, expert workmanship and classic style.

Tee-totallers may wear a wrap skirt of calico and print. The side and back panels are on the side, the trumpet-wine print on the other, and there are blouses to match either side. Not only that, Bellows has a patch-work skirt, which increases the same two prints in a couple of the patches, so you can wear either blouse with the patch-work skirt.

Something else new on the skirt racks: a sharply pleated kil of arnel and cotton with thick up-holster's fringe down the fold. Comes in Welsh green (olive or should we say, olive green), dark brown or a brown Glen plaid.

A wrap-around skirt of tarpon cloth comes in a good frostgreen, grapevine red, grey or brown and there are blouses to match for print and solid team up to such an extent this spring that the purchase of a pair of shorts and a shirt starts an endless chain reaction. (We think you'll like the shorts with the frosty pink Bermudas with the matching print blouse.)

MARK TWAIN COMING BACK

In his first performance, Dean Attaress will bring Mark Twain back to Princeton on Friday, May 20, when Hal Holbrook comes to McCarter for a return engagement of "Mark Twain Tonight." It was last here in November.

Since that time, Mr. Holbrook has taken Sam Clemens to Saudi Arabia for the employees of the American-Arab Oil Company. Next fall, he will fill an engagement at the Edinburgh Festival.

"FATHER BROWN" COMING
TO McCarter This Thursday. The 1964 film, "Father Brown," will be shown this Thursday at 8 in McCarter Theatre, under the auspices of the Classics Film Club.

Alec Guinness is starred in the title role. "The delightful Alec Guinness at his best" was the verdict of Anthony Evans of the London Times.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Home From the Hill, April 26-29, Hollywood's most glittering but native world, exists by simplification. The film with the most extras equals The Best Picture of the Year. Color sequences, as in courtroom sequences, are entertaining. There's no business like show business. Adults are sexual.

Tiros Film Scheduled

The new Tiros weather satellite will make its film debut this Saturday at the Playhouse. The picture, describing the satellite, will be shown at 10:30, 11 and 11:30 a.m. There will be no charge for admission.

Tiros is the color film which shows the function of Tiros in space, and scenes that show engineers designing and building the satellite at the RCA Space Center on the Princeton-Hightstown Road. The actual launching at Cape Canaveral is included.

Tiros is one of several experimental satellites to be built by RCA for use in a continuing program to study the role of satellites as weather forecasters.

It is to the latter tautology that we will direct this week's quiz. It is to the point that it is really a good thing that the movies have become free of the necessity to produce repetitive schoolgirl fantasies about half-men and gentle-ness women, who have hardly ever lied. Straightforward treatment of relationships involving sex can be meaningful and necessary; without it, we would not have the likes of "Tiros" and that would have been a tremendous loss. But the movie makers are dishonest when they expect us to believe that they are creating number one material, keyhole peeping films are anything but sensational trash. Childish dime novel pictures do not become less childish because they involve an abortion or a dead husband.

"Home From the Hill" includes an unfaithful husband (Robert Mitchum), an unresponsive wife (Eleanor Parker), an illegitimate son (George Peppard) and a teenage paramour (Lana Patten, by George! Hamill). Everett Sloane, as Miss Patten's father, and Miss Parker give good performances. The film, which was adapted from William Humphrey's novel, has little to do with human emotions or logical development. Sol C. Siegel produced the film in CinemaScope and color.

Once More, With Feeling (April 27-30) is valuable chiefly because it pictures the life of a highly gifted, talented Kay Kendall, who was ill during the filming and died of leukemia soon after it was completed. Not pleasant though, there is a final and when approaching a romantic comedy, but they inevitably intrude. Miss Kendall was that rarest of theatrical commodities, a beautiful, vivacious, vivacious, wifely wit and charm shine through every picture she made. It will be a long while before another comedienne of her stature comes along and this is reason enough to see "Once More, With Feeling."

As a motion picture, however, this slight comedy is a temperamental, temperamental, "Once More, With His" Russo - Yiddish manager (Gregory Ratoff) and his marital difficulties with Miss Kendall have a place. But you should have learned by now that he is not a comic actor except un-Continued on Page 10 intentionally, as in "Solomon and Sheba." He substitutes energy for verve and when he occasionally gets off a good line, he grins secretly as if he had accidentally said something. In "Russian Tambourine" Ranoff also tries hard, but his job is made difficult by a script based on the assumption that the phrase "big" . . . means "come to go to Sol Hunk if I'm not telling them the truth" are screamingly dull.

But through it all, Miss Kendall is funny and funny, and you may find, as we did, that after a couple of days all you can remember about the picture with any precision are some of her gestures and phrases. The film is in Technicolor. Recommended.

THE GARDEN

Ivan the Terrible (April 18-23) is a thundering and belated screen achievement produced in Russia. Sergei Eisenstein with Nikolai Cherkasov in the title role. Before his death in 1948, Eisenstein had planned a great cycle of related films on Ivan's life and reign, but only Parts I and II, which take three hours in this combined program, were completed. Part I won in 1947 the Stalin Prize. Part II would go far in the analogies it drew between Ivan and Stalin, and Eisenstein was reprimanded. Part II was not re-released until last year.

The first part depicts the foundation of Ivan's royal power and personal happiness, and shows him winning popular support in his greatest victory, the capture of Novgorod. In Part II the nobles attempt to dethrone the ruler, but he triumphs by staging a monumental purge. This is a great analogy to Stalin's great victory of the 30s, and Ivan emerges from it as a paranoid and dangerous man.

Eisenstein conceived of the Ivan cycle as a colossal symphony for the screen, and darkness is the theme. The entire second part was filmed at night in a low-ceilinged crypt and there is a grotesque, macabre atmosphere. The acting is brutal, in keeping with the scope of events, but only rarely does it become stagey and artificial.

In the end, the film catches something of the prophetic horror and beauty of the great Russian novels. The score is by Prokofiev. Recommended.

Anastasia (April 25), a 1936 release in CinemaScope and color, historically interesting in that it provided Ingrid Bergman with her first role in an American film after her success in "Gaslight," which her readers will recall. The other featured players are Yul Brynner and Helen Hayes, and the adaptation of the Sophie Morellette play was written by Ossie Kolton.

Miss Bergman is Anastasia, the unacknowledged heiress of the Russian Imperial Family who has been in hiding since 1917. She is found by a London bank if she can prove her identity. Brynner is a Russian general who pushes her case with the Dowager Empress (Helen Hayes), who shortly plans to freeze her out of inheritance. This goes for a while as if Miss Bergman is in serious trouble, but things improve after Miss

According to the proposal, the cost of maintaining the library would be apportioned between Borough and Township on the basis of the number of residents who use the library, and the income would be apportioned in similar fashion.

Capital appropriations of less than $5,000 would also be divided in this manner, while those over $5,000 would be subject to approval by both Borough Council and Township Committee. The entire amount budgeted each year would also have to be approved by both governing bodies.

The library would be run by a Board of trustees consisting of both taxpayers and superintendents of schools and three citizens from each municipality. A public hearing on the proposal will be held in Township Hall on May 2.

In other business, Committee appointed Hans K. Sander to the Finance Board to fill the unexpired one-year term of G. O. Schofield. The term expires December 31, 1960. . . . took under advisement a request by the Hope Valley Water and Sewer Company to run a route from Lambethville to the Princeton Shopping Center, entering Princeton on Route 206 from Route 518, and proceeding to the Shopping Center. ### DR. PAULING TO SPEAK

On Nuclear War, "No More War," the peace campaign Dr. Linus Pauling for his talk Monday at 8 p.m., under the sponsorship of the Princeton Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy. He will speak at 8 p.m. on May 6.

Dr. Pauling will discuss the effects of fallout and the hydrogen bomb, and the prospects for a permanent end to war. In 1957, Dr. Pauling sponsored a petition to the United Nations urging an international agreement to stop nuclear bomb testing. Over 11,000 scientists and over 1,000 world leaders joined him in the petition and Dr. Albert Schweitzer commented, "By his efforts to prevent nuclear war and to bring the peaceful uses of nuclear energy under international control, Linus Pauling is rendering a great service to humanity."

Recipient of the Nobel Prize in chemistry in 1954, Dr. Pauling has also received the Royal Society's Davy Award and the Presidential Medal for outstanding services to the United States.

TO GIVE FINAL AUDIT

ON CIVIL RIGHTS. The final installment of the Community Audit of Civil Rights, prepared by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, will be presented next Thursday at 8:15 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church. The public is invited to attend. The final audit will consider Princeton public schools and the administration of justice. In preparing the report, members of the committee asked principals and superintendents such questions as "How integrated are our public schools?" "What are some of the human relations problems in our schools?"

Members of the justice committee attended many sessions of Borough and Township Councils in order to gather information on the treatment of minority-group offenders and the number of minority offenders, and the number of arrests made. This report will also include the returns from a questionnaire mailed to Princeton lawyers.

Mrs. Paul Schleyer served as chair of the subcommittee on education and Mrs. Frederick R. Kling as chairman of the group studying the administration of justice. The topics in the report series have concerned employment and public accommodations, church membership, participation in United Fund agencies and so on.

TIRE, MONEY STOLEN

In Three Acts of Theft, Mrs. Donald Medina of Princeton, filed a report to Borough police that a tire, wheel rim and hub cap were stolen from her car parked in the garage. Police estimated the value of the stolen parts at $10.00.

Dr. Martin H. Land, police surgeon, told police that approximately $60 was taken from a safe drawer in his office at the Medical Center of Princeton Hospital. Medina Pinto, an employee of the Ivy Club on Prospect Avenue, who lives in the room of the Club, notified police that $12 was missing from his wallet he had left in his trousers pocket.

ASK PLANNING BOARD

Of Princeton Multiple Housing Zones, two property-owners in Princeton Township asked the Planning Board on Wednesday night to consider extending the zones suggested for multiple housing by the Multiple Housing Subcommittee.

Others present at the open hearing, including Township trustees, may have included it if property owners so desired and neighbors approved. The hearing was a quiet one, suggesting the possibility that those who own property in the proposed zones are playing "wait and see."

Hugh D. Wise spoke for Mrs. Anna M. Harrel, proprietor of the Princeton Riding Club, who would like to have her three and one-half acre tract included in the multiple-housing zones. Mrs. Wise's land is close to the proposed zoning line, which goes down Bayard Lane to Mountain Avenue and along Mountain for about 400 feet.

Princeton Enterprises' spokesman, Hallett Johnson, asked that the 35 acres of the Anderson property on Chestnut Hill Road be included and said he thought this particular tract would be suited to a more "elaborate" kind of garden apartment development which might be attractive to older couples.

Stuart E. Wallace of Modern Construction, Inc., proposed that the multiple-housing zones be made flexible enough to allow single-family houses as well. He also suggested the inclusion of two-family houses which would, he said, be less expensive for middle-income families.

After the Planning Board has considered the Princeton multiple-housing report and made its recommendations, the question will be considered by the Township Committee, which will have to amend zoning ordinances to provide for any multiple housing.

TO DISCUSS TAX

At the Township meeting, Dr. Wallace Miller and Dr. Wm. Hull Davis will speak on the subject of the Broad Base Tax at a parent education meeting of the Princeton Elementary School PTA next Wednesday, 8 in the Witherspoon School Auditorium. Dr. Miller is an attorney and a member of the Tax Policy Commission of New Jersey.

To illustrate his picture, Mr. Davis and Dr. Miller will show a short film which will help clarify this tax system. The film was procured through the New Jersey Education Association.

THOMAS TO SPEAK

At YM-YWCA Meeting, Lowell Thomas, Jr., will present his film From the Persian Gulf to Suez, or Sailings in the Sons of Sinbad at YM-YWCA meeting on Thursday, April 26, at 8:15 in the Avalon Place headquarters. The meeting is the first in a series of discussions and lectures on foreign countries and their relations with America.

The film which Mr. Thomas will show includes scenes of pearl diving, a falcon hunt, a trip to the Wadi Hadramaut, fishing for turtles with such big fish, and building of canals. After the film, Mr. Thomas will answer questions.

Admission to the lecture will be free, but members are asked to obtain an entrance ticket at the "Y." The discussions, designed to broaden the horizons of members living in the United States as well as helping the youth of foreign lands, are scheduled to be held every month.

TO ACCEPT APPLICATIONS
For Rocky Hill Nursery School. Applications for admission for the school year 1960-61 are now being accepted by the Rocky Hill Cooperative Nursery School. Next fall the school will begin its second year of operation under a plan of active participation by parents which allows high standards with a minimum of expense.

Classes are held in the Rocky Hill Public School Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 to 12 for three-year olds, and at the same time on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays for four and five-year olds. The children enjoy a program of supervised free play, arts and crafts, games, music and refreshment.

Parent-teacher conferences are scheduled twice a year. Further information and application blanks may be obtained from Mrs. Clement Baldwin, Mrs. Richard Hoisington and Mrs. Charles Peterson.

BENEFIT FILM SCHEDULED

For Cherry Hill Nursery. A feature-length cartoon film of George Orwell's "Animal Farm" will be shown next Friday, April 29, at 8 p.m. in the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road, a benefit for the Cherry Hill Nursery School.

Tickets may be obtained by calling 4-5622 or WA 5-6222, or they may be purchased at the door on Friday. The audience is invited to remain after the film for refreshments.

REGISTRATION SET

For Borough Pre-Schoolers. Children who will enter the Borough kindergarten next fall have been asked to register at the Nasau Street School from 10:30 a.m. on May 4, 11 and 18.

Parents must bring birth certificates for the children and a proof of inoculation against diphtheria, whooping cough and school requests that parents make an appointment for one of the above days by calling the nurse's office at WA 4-5600.

FLOWER SHOW PLANNED

By Dogwood Garden Club. "Salute to Spring" will be the theme of the May flower show of the Dogwood Garden Club to be held at the Garden Club building Saturday, May 21, from 2 to 8. Eight classes of artistic arrangement, designed to carry out the theme, will be featured.

Education, horticultural and sponsored exhibits by Scout and 4-H groups, and a special division for junior gardeners will be included. The horticultural division will center upon spring specimen flowers and shrubs. Show chairmen, Mrs. Wesley Owens and Mrs. Richard Young, announced that classes are open to all amateur exhibitors.

The planning committee includes Mrs. Philip Shays, stage manager; Mrs. Frances Dunning, scheduler; Mrs. Louis Gerber, editor; Mrs. William Duryee III, publicity; Mrs. Thomas Johnson, education; Mrs. Willis Lebourne, florist; Mrs. J. G. Colleland, awards; Mrs. H. H. Hoy, judges; Mrs. R. W. Hoisington, hostesses; Mrs. Thurland Wilkin-

MUSIC
In Princeton

HAYES TO SING HERE

Sunday in Procter Hall, Marvin Hayes, internationally known young bass-baritone, will give his first recital in Princeton Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in Procter Hall. The program will be given at Princeton University. The recital is being sponsored by the Friends of Music at Princeton and is open to the public free of charge.

Mr. Hayes, who received his bachelor of music degree from the University of Southern California, is the recipient of the Woodrow Wilson Travel Grant and has had a year of study in Paris with Pierre Bernac. He has just been asked to join the cast of "The Year of the Phoenix" which is being sent this summer by the State Department on a tour of France, England and Italy.

For his Princeton recital Mr. Hayes will sing "De Profundis" and "Si Inquitatis" by Michel de La Lande; "An Evening Hymn," by Purcell; songs by Schubert, Schumann, Schreker, Brahms, Gideon, and songs of the West Coast Canadian Indians. He will be accompanied at the piano by Jonathan Brice.

AMATEUR GROUP TO MEET
Sunday at Miss Fine's School, Bruce McKinney, a Princeton University senior in the Department of Music, will conduct the group at a meeting of the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs Sunday at 5 Miss Fine's School.

Society members will be

Marion Holland, soprano; Jean Chorley, contralto; Robert Holland, tenor, and Fadiou Shchedri, bass. Thomas James, a junior at the University, will direct. The program will be Haydn's "Nelson Mass."

The meeting is open to the public. Those wishing to make reservations should call Miss Fine or MacKenzie Bryan at WA 4-0553 between 2 and 5 p.m. on weekdays.

STUDENT WORKS FEATURED
In Concert This Friday. Compositions by graduate students in the Department of Music of Princeton University will be presented in a concert this Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the Cox Hall Auditorium. This will be the first of two concerts planned for this Spring to present music by students of Roger Sessions.

Roses and Rhubarb
by Allen

FROM HERE TO MATERNITY

Fanned out along our delivery perimeter are a half dozen hospitals including those in Princeton, Trenton and Flemington.

Eleven years ago when the first Allen floral arrangement shop was created, it was quite evident that flowers to cheer the sick could be a large part of our total business. Today, hospital arrangements are a considerable large part of our total sales volume. We attribute this to the special emphasis we have always placed on (a) fresh flowers (b) smart styling (c) prompt delivery.

Most people who are first introduced to our work by flowers they received as patients in the hospital. Here, as in no other way, can our designs be compared with commercial florists. Again, our arrangements continue to be our best advertisement.

Probably no other floral gift sent to a hospital means as much as flowers to a new mother. Our feeling for clever, dainty little arrangements is especially strong here. When the need arises, call on Allen's -- our designers will suggest the appropriate, attractively priced from $3.50. Delivered free.

The program will open with Henry Weingart's "Three Songs" performed by Shirley Sudock, soprano, and Charles Gengenbach, pianist. Matthew Rainmonds will then perform Frederic Rzewski's "Soliloquy for Violinist."

After an intermission, the concert will continue with Alden Ashton's "Three Songs." These will be performed by Anthony Beardmore, soprano, and David del Tredici, pianist.

The concert is being presented by the Friends of Music of Princeton, and is made possible by the Roy Dickinson Welch Memorial Fund. It is open to the public free of charge.

GLEE CLUB TO SING

In Spring Program. Music performed by the Princeton University Glee Club in its spring recital at Princeton Hall will be sung again this Saturday at 8 p.m. when the group presents a concert in Alexander Hall.

The program, consisting from Bach to Brahms, includes a special item, "Louise medley and a medley of Princeton football songs. A small, informal singing group, "The Composers," will make its first Princeton appearance with a group of songs.

Other features of the program will be the first Princeton performance of "Cantata" by Ernesto Lecuona, arranged by Augusto Rodriguez, the conductor of the University of Puerto Rico chorus, and a pair of light selections by Lester Freed, solo tenor of the Glee Club.

The concert is the only full-length program to be given in Princeton by the Club this season. Tickets, at $1.25, $1.75 and $2.50, are available at the University Store. They may also be purchased at Alexander Hall the night of the concert.

CHILDREN TO SING

At Alumni Festival. Over 500 children's voices from choirs throughout this area, will be heard in a massed choir which will sing in the Westminster Alumni Chapel to be held at Princeton High School this Sunday and again next Sunday at 5:30 p.m. Miss Virginia Cheesman will direct.

Another similar concert will be given throughout the year by the alumni of Westminster Choir College in celebration of the College's Alumni Week. Music chosen for the festival consists of numbers from the great choral classics and contemporary favorites. The event is open to the public without charge and an offering will be taken for the Westminster Alumni Fund of the Choir College.

Westminster Choir College, perhaps best known for its touring choir, is also known for its work in its studios, where concert choirs in churches and schools all over the world. The College is a non-denominational school which trains young people to be Ministers of Music in churches and directors of music in secular institutions.

MUSIC CLUB TO MEET

For April Program. Members of the Princeton Music Club will gather next Wednesday at 8:30 pm. at the home of Mrs. Thomas C. Kingdon for a program of string quartet music and music. Mrs. Cook and Maria Pacsu will be hostesses.

MAKING HER'S VISIT: Mrs. Henry Weingart, internationally known bass-baritone, will give his first Princeton recital Sunday at 3:15 p.m. in Procter Hall.

A string quartet composed of Joseph Kovacs, violin; Edward Heller, 'cello, and David Wells will play. Janice Harsanyi, Elva Kelsall, Fadiou Shchedri and Frances Wendt will give a program of vocal music accompanied by Louise Strusky.

PIANISTS NEEDED

For Opera Workshop. The Princeton Valley Opera Workshop in Levittown. We need pianists who are interested in performing with the group in its spring program and those who would like to audition may make arrangements with Mrs. George Bent at WA 1-8788.

The Workshop will present its spring program on May 21. It will consist of scenes from "The Marriage of Figaro," "Carmen," and "Die Fledermaus," and the entire "Secret of Surzamme." The program will be given in the Benjamin Franklin High School in Levittown, at 8 p.m. Mrs. Bent is musical director of the organization.

TO HOLD "APRIL ANNUAL" AT NEURO-PsYCHIATRIC INSTITUTE.
The April Annual of the association of the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute will be held Tuesday from 10:30 a.m. at Smalley Hall on the Institute grounds.

Before lunch, Mrs. Robert B. Meyner, honorary chairman, will give a welcoming address and Dr. Robert E. Bennett, medical director, will speak. Dr. Bennett will provide a résumé of the Institute's role in professional training. Dr.

"FROM THE TERRACE." Mrs. John O'Hara (left), provides an appropriate meeting place for a group of women who are making plans for the annual meeting of the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute. Mrs. O'Hara will be chairman of the bake sale table. Mrs. Bertha Brandon (center) of the Friendship Club and Mrs. Bertram E. Bell (right) are in discussing final arrangements. (Town Topics Photo by Alan Richards)

Cyril Frank will report on research at the Institute on "Alcohol and Personality." Following lunch, there will be fashion show of clothes from Mayne Mead of Princeton, with Gordon Knox as commentator.

Among the sales booths will be a bake table (Mrs. John O'Hara, chairman); a bird bar where ornithologists may buy materials which will attract birds to a garden (Mrs. John O'Hara, chairman); a flower mart tended by the Dogwood Club (Mrs. Douglas Smith, chairman); and hand-made articles from the Monday Club (Mrs. A. W. Gummier and Mrs. Hazel L. Tourison, chairman).

The April Annual will find many activities which cannot be included in the state budget, such as television sets, non-institutional clothing, party food and even a swimming pool.

The April Annual will also serve as models: Mrs. C. Burrage Armour, Mrs. Alfred W. Gardner, Mrs. Robert M. King, Mrs. James B. Laughlin, Mrs. Nellie M. Smith, all of Princeton; Mrs. W. J. H. Abey Jr., Pennington; Mrs. Frederick R. Peterson, Hopewell; Mrs. John W. L. Lawrenceville; Mrs. W. L. Sheppard, Highland Park; Mrs. Paul Frisbie, Trenton, and Mrs. Joseph B. Bobish, Morrisville.

PLATONIC LOVE IS THEME OF LECTURE ON TUESDAY. Prof. H. J. Hunt of the University of London will speak on "George Sand, Saint-Beuve, and Balzac" or "The Platonic Love of the Mind" Tuesday at 8:30 in the Social Science Lounge of the Firestone Library. The Department of Romance Languages is sponsoring the talk.

Prof. Hunt is currently touring the United States and lecturing at outstanding universities. He is one of the major scholars of 19th century French literature.

UWF LISTS SPEAKERS

For dinner May 3, two additional speakers for this dinner, May 3, were announced this week by the Princeton Chapter, United World Federalists. They are Dr. DeWitt H. Smith of Drakes Corner Road, who will speak as master of ceremonies, and Rabbi Arnold H. Kahn of the Princeton Jewish Center, who will give the invocation.

The dinner will be held at the Nassau Inn. Other speakers will include Professor Hubert N. Alyea of 4 College Road and Louis P. Dailey, prominent North Jersey attorney. Dr. Smith will speak on the world government which United World Federalists advocate.

SOROPTIMISTS TO MEET

Question of the Week

Question: Who's boss in your family—your mother or father? Or you? (Asked of teen-agers only).

Where Asked: Nassau Street.

Tower Hubbell, 23, 375 Nassau Street, Witherspoon School: Do you mean most of the time or always? Most of the time it's my father because he's the one that tells me what to do and he gives me money when I ask for it.

Larry Ferrara, 14, 42 Jefferson Road, Princeton High School: My parents work, so a teacher or my father lets my father think he is the boss and, basically, he really is.

Gledea Hill, 13, 10 Adams Drive, PHS: My father's the boss. He's always the boss. He tells me what to do and I do it or else.

Tyone Silvis, 13, 114 Jackson Street, Witherspoon School: My mother is boss because she doesn't say anything, but when she does get him riled up he does.

Susan Thompson, 12, Mercer Road, Johnson Park School: I'm 12½, going on 13, so I'm practically a teenager. My father is, I think, the boss.

Edward Espinoza, 14, 9 Harris Road, PHS: It depends on the situation. When I buy my clothes, I'm the boss. Usually my mother is the boss. She's the one who tells us when we can go out and when we have to be back.

Susie Heiberger, 16, 100 Longview Drive, PHS: It's not always the same all the time. I think most of the time it's Mom because she is home all the time and she's the one I ask all the time. In the evenings, usually my father, though if I put up a good argument and sit around the house, they get sick of me and say, "Oh, go ahead and do it!"

Greg Seitz, 13, Princeton Junction, West Windsor Township School: My father is and I think the father should be boss.

Nancy Davison, 14, 85 Erdman Avenue, PHS: I don't know about that. If I want to go out, I'll ask my mother and she'll say: "Go ask your father." My father will say: "H, it's all right with your mother." Then my mother will say: "O.K."

Joe Hark, 17, 5 Piedmont Drive, West Windsor Township, PHS: It depends. You can call the boss the money-maker or the budget-maker? My dad is the boss except for handling the money. My mother is the budget-maker and the budget. Actually, it's both. In some cases my mother decides and in some cases my dad does. Usually it's O.K. with me. If it's O.K. with me, and if I say disagree, they'll talk it over and decide. There is one thing that I am boss of and that is when I go out. I can set my own time limit when to come home. They'll lower it, though, if they think it is way out of line.

Lesley Fonger, 15, 174 Guyot Avenue, PHS: My father is, I guess, because he controls my allowance.

Gary Dunlop, 15, 15 Madison Street, PHS: I'd say my father is. He is the one who has the most say in the things I do.

Amy Freck, 13, 56 Fulton Avenue, West Windsor Township: It depends. Sometimes my mother is the boss and sometimes my father is and when it comes to what TV programs we watch, I am.

Dick Peskin, 14, 327 Walnut Street, PHS: My father is. He tells me what to do.

Jill Wright, 14, 40 Murray Place, Witherspoon School: Both of them are. I have to ask both of them to go to a place that I want to go to. I'm in a mood. I can usually talk them into what I want to do. I'm the boss of my little sister.

Arthur Santostasio, 17, Princeton Junction, PHS: Once in awhile when my mother asks me, "I can't have this car," I might get it through my father, but he says no, that's it. I don't get it.

Joanne Luther, 14, Princeton Junction, PHS: My mother is. I usually ask her if I can go out and I ask her for money. She'll confer with my father, but not necessarily stick up for me but my father puts his foot down.

Britt McNamee, Evans Neck, West Windsor Township School: (Another 12½-year-old who considers herself 13). My father has control over me. My mother usually sticks up for me but my father puts his foot down.

Melissa Rightmire, 16, Canal Road, Groggstown, PHS: I guess Daddy is. What he says usually goes.

Flora Preaccini, 16, 319 Witherspoon Street, PHS: My father is. The way. And, in my opinion, that is the natural way with the father giving all the commands in the right way.

THE CIRCUS IS COMING

May 3 at Shopping Center. The Clyde Beatty-Cole Brothers' Come Back Circus will be in town at Princeton Shopping Center on Tuesday, May 3, under the sponsorship of Princeton Lions Club. Proceeds will go toward the civic and charitable work of the Lions Club.

The first show, a 3:30 matinee, has been scheduled especially for children, and it is hoped that children and their grandparents will buy tickets to this performance for underprivileged children. The second show will be at 8 p.m.

The circus has 150 performers, featuring Clyde Beatty in person with his trained wild animals. Mr. Beatty has added to his collection a bear which is said to be the only bear ever to work in a mixed group of lions and tigers. There are 27 other acts, as well as three herds of elephants and a total of 150 wild and domestic animals.

Harold J. Frazer is chairman of the Lions Club's Circus Committee. Tickets are now on sale and may be obtained at Frazer's Market, Nassau Delicatessen, Allen's Children's Shop, Remick's, and the Mall Camera Shop in the Princeton Shopping Center.

"I NEED HELP!"

Family Service Agency Is Ready. "People come here to find out where to go," says Mrs. Mabel M. Reeves, director of Princeton's Family Service Agency. "They're in trouble; the youngest boy has run away from home or the oldest boy has been caught stealing. The mother is breaking up, or some member of the family is threatened with mental illness; we help—give you a place to go."

Last year, over 800 people representing 210 Princeton families called on Family Service for help. At present, Mrs. Reeves and her associate, Mrs. Phoebe Wang, both full-time professionally-trained caseworkers, have about 60 cases between them.

Some of these cases concern parents who are so seriously disturbed that they require psychiatric care. Others involve nothing more (relatively speaking) than a Jones or a son who needs somebody to talk to.

"A caseworker has to know what not to handle," says Mrs. Reeves. "There are cases of four years old with profound emotional disturbance, for example. Pediatricians refer children like this to us sometimes, but if the child needs that much therapy, we send him to the Child Guidance Clinic."

Marital Problems Difficult. Marital problems are usually handled by casework within the agency. As a rule, these are marital problems: "The toughest ones in the world to handle," according to Mrs. Reeves.

A husband will call the agency and ask for an appointment, maybe his minister has told him about Family Service; maybe he's in one of the Princeton mental institutions and has been sent by his Guidance Counselor. In any case, he is given an appointment with a caseworker who will tell her all about the situation. Then in a few days, she sees the wife and listens to her side. After one or two separate conferences, she talks with them both together.

Usually, the people involved in marital problems are disturbed people," Mrs. Reeves says. "They are married, but there is some other kind of problem. Often we find it's just immaturity; both of them are acting like a couple of spoiled kids."

"Independent cases," Reeves smiles, "I use the word 'he', but usually it's the wife who comes in first, and often her husband

WE'RE HERE TO HELP. Two able caseworkers are available full-time. Princeton Family Service Agency, located in Dorothy's House, 120 John Street, Mrs. Mabel M. Reeves (left) is director of the agency, but unlike most agency executives, she carries a full case load in addition to her administrative duties. Her associate is Mrs. Phoebe Wang. For an account of the work done in Princeton by Family Service, see story this page.

Camp, Milk, Clothing

One of the pleasantest duties of the Family Service agency is the administration of the Town-Torres Christmas Fund. Princeton residents contribute in the form of Christmas gifts, but Family Service distributes the money throughout the whole year.

In the 13 years since the Fund was started, Princeton residents have contributed about $31,800. Last year, the Fund was enriched by $3,700, a record.

Family Service uses the money to buy milk for a family in sudden financial distress, to pay club dues for a young, frisky adolescent whose parents may keep him out of service clubs, or to buy clothing for a high-school graduate looking for her first job.

Now, with summer-time ahead, the Agency is making plans to send needy children to camp for two weeks. "Needy" may mean more than no money. A child may need desperately to get away from an unhappy family situation, if only for two weeks. And even two weeks "off the streets" may help a potential delinquent.

refused for a time to have any to do with me at all, and no lady social worker is going to tell me how to live my life—you know the kind of thing. But the husband usually appears eventually to present his side of the story. After all, most disturbed marriages affect the children involved and if there is truancy, or suspension from school the father is here in no time.

"Good listeners." Often, a husband or wife needs someone to talk to who is an objective outsider. Mrs. Reeves or Mrs. Wang will listen, and then ask the patient what the core of his problem may be. Through this disinterested outsider (but most empathetic and interested), two people may learn to understand each other better.

"We never tell a man and woman to leave each other—they must decide that, themselves." Mrs. Reeves has seen one couple that finally broke up but they parted with much less bitterness than if they hadn't come here, and if they remarry, they won't make the same mistake. "After all," she says, "Mrs. Reeves, 'you don't have to be married to have problems.'"

"Maybe a boy has been caught stealing at home," Mrs. Reeves explains. "His mother may go to a judge and get the boy referred to her. It's a very frightened kid who needs psychotherapy and we tell him where to go—but what kind of family situation started him stealing?—and we can convince his mother that we can help her. If she's willing to be helped, we may find a situation...

where there's a step-father, a financial inability that keeps the family quarreling all the time, and so on."

Mrs. Reeves emphasizes that nobody can be forced to go to Family Service, and a juvenile court referral is a sort of mild and gentle forcing," she smiles.

DELIVERIES DAILY

Report from THE MAYOR

Special Meeting Planned. Mayor and Council will hold a special session this Thursday, April 21, at 8:45 p.m. in Borough Hall, in order to interview each of the seven applicants for a license to sell alcohol and/or beverages by name. The problem is unusual in that no member of the present governing body has ever been called upon to help decide this kind of question.

Heretofore we have been called upon to approve or disapprove a transfer of a license from one party to another. Now a decision must be made in a different manner.

It has been decided to give each applicant a chance to present briefly the factors which he feels should weigh in his favor. Members of Council will have an opportunity to question each applicant concerning his qualifications and some of his specific applications—including, no doubt, questions about the premises and the nature of the business and so forth. Since the members of Council will be called upon to exercise their best judgment in the making of a difficult choice in the public interest.

Decision on Prospect Due. Mayor and Council must also decide on a date to take action on the ordinance concerning the extension of the liquor license. Last Tuesday's public hearing produced a lively discussion on both sides of this question.

Council decided to postpone final action on the ordinance because of the absence of two Councilmen, both members of the key public works committee. It is hoped that an early date can be fixed for a decision on this matter.

Operation Alert 1960. Captain Sage, civil defense and disaster control coordinator, has notified the mayor and Borough Council that the annual nation-wide civil defense alert will take place during the period May 3, 4 and 5. Public participation will be required only on the afternoon of May 3.

Captain Sage is particularly concerned about two phases of the public defense campaign—disaster preparedness and public apathy, particularly in residential areas. Some apathy is doubtless rooted in the general reaction that there is no effective defense against the design of an all-out atomic attack. Perhaps we need to be reminded that the preparations made by our disaster control volunteers will be helpful in meeting a wide variety of emergency disasters that can and do strike towns without warning.

A Warm Response. A recent letter from Mrs. Lorraine LaTourette Blanding indicates that Princeton residents—several hundred of them—responded to the newspaper account of the fate of her son, Dr. LaTourette, former editor of The Princeton Packet. She still "was really thrilled. He still has the telegram (from Acting Mayor Lester H. Miller) from Fairmount in her wallet pocket and shows it to every new visitor."

This proves again how much our older citizens enjoy the knowledge that their town remembers and respects it. It also proves that Princeton remains a town with a very big and a very warm heart.

Friday Open House. The regular weekly "Tell it to the Mayor" sessions will be held on Friday, April 22, and Friday, April 29, from 1 to 4 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is necessary for these informal sessions.

Last Friday morning, Borough officials watched a demonstration of important fire-fighting equipment and fire-fighting techniques were put through their paces. The Borough's 14-year-old sweeper is resting rather forlornly at the garage, needing more than $2,000 worth of repairs! Another fiscal headache!

Eggsactly!

Families with a lot of pink, purple, yellow and blue hard-boiled, parboiled, hard-cooked eggs by the dozen as a residue of Easter, will be happy to learn that the New Jersey Poultry Products Promotion Council (a non-profit trade organization) has a "properly" hard-cooked egg as one of the most gratifying, satisfying and delectably tender items for sumptuous menu items.

The key word is "hard-cooked." Egg men shudder when people say "hard-boiled." They are so sensitive about it that they have decided to use the word "boiled" or "hard-boiled" instead of "hard-cooked." Prevents further cooking and makes them easy to handle.

Egg men say that this is the way to hard-cook an egg: "Put cold water into warm water. Then lift the egg into a spoon into boiling water . . . reduce the heat . . . simmer 20 minutes. Cool eggs promptly in cold water for several seconds. Prevents further cooking and makes them easy to handle."

Better keep an eye out for that Farmobile: can YOU think of 29 different ways to get rid of Easter eggs?

Help for the Aged. Increasingly, the agency is concerned with old people who have nobody left in the world except the social worker. The agency is learning that "An elderly woman, sheltered from life, may suddenly find herself widowed, without funds. She falls and breaks a leg, and faces a long period of convalescence. This presents a complex of problems—financial, emotional and practical. And even if this lonely old invalid had enough money, she might still need reassurance and understanding companionship."

Besides Mrs. Reeves, Mrs. Wang and Viola Germani, the full-time secretary-bookkeeper, the staff of Family Service includes Mrs. Helen Daniels, Mrs. Helen Daniels, who gives the agency two hours a week.

She is the leader of a Psychological and Psychological Services Committee which meets over sandwiches and coffee once a month to discuss knotty cases, establish policy and talk about problems, such as juvenile delinquency, which may concern the whole community.

This committee includes five clinical psychologists: Mrs. Eileen Bresler, Mrs. Muriel Bresler, Mrs. Maurice Phillips, Dr. Lee Miller and Mrs. Virginia Erdman. These psychologists administer whatever tests are needed, and provide psychological treatment under the supervision of Dr. Daniel. At present, five patients are receiving therapy from these specialists.

In addition, the group may include school psychologists, a private practitioner, school nurses, perhaps the guidance counselor at Princeton High School or others in the community who have a particular interest in the work of the agency.

There are no barriers at Family Service. People pay if they can, if they can't, they are accepted anyway. Most people think of such an agency in terms of lower social and economic groups, but this is not wholly the case.

People from all parts of town are welcome. There are skilled laborers and graduate students; housewives and 16-year-old boys; professional men and domestics. The only criterion is, "Do you need help and are we equipped to give it?"

REGISTRATION TUESDAY
For Township Kindergarten, Registration for the four kindergartens of Princeton Township Schools will begin Tuesday, a child whose birthday falls on or before next November 30 is eligible.

Registration will take place on Tuesday at the Valley Road School, Wednesday, Littleton Road School; Thursday, Riverside School and Friday, Johnson Park, each day from 8:30 to 3:30. Township children may register at any

PART OF HUN SCHOOL SPRING EXHIBIT: Mrs. James Reed (left) of 26 Murray Place, Princeton, and Mrs. Joseph Kelsall, principal of the Huns, handle a German-made crocheted doll over 100 years old. It is one of the dolls that will be part of some 40 exhibits on display at the Hun School Spring Festival April 30. Mrs. Joseph Kelsall of 256 Varsity Avenue, Penn Neck, general chairman of the event, is holding a German-made bisque doll from the Boston Trade School over 30 years ago. Seated at Mrs. Reed's elbow, dressed in a garden party outfit, is a French porcelain doll over 100 years old. In the foreground is another German-made bisque doll with a paper mache body. ## It's New To Us

An overcoat with a three-inch ruffle comes in raspberry, turquoise, or orange and you wear it with tapered pants in a raspberry, orange and turquoise floral eyelet that looks like plaid.

For quieter hours, Bellows suggests a fitted robe of cotton, cut without sleeves and with a scoop neck, and a belt in the front. Under it, you wear a waltz-length sleep coat with button front and a calendar print to let you know, Mrs. Winkie, what month it is when you wake up.

Miss Sally Victor Hallatts are for people who don't wear hats. The hats consist of a circle, like a donut, which you place on top of your head. From it depends a cage of blocked veiling, in olive, pink black or whatever.

Young women who are graduating this spring have a wide choice of dresses at Belows. Most of them are pastels and most are cut as simple as possible. One in white, has clusters of horizontal tucks from square neck to hem. Another, in powder blue, has insertions of open-work embroidery.

HERE Comes the Crystal. Brides who are wedding guests shop at The Palmer Square shop for glass and china in splendid profusion when they begin to open wedding presents. The Palmer Square shop carries crystal from Baccarat, Lalique, and Val St. Lambert and there are innumerable designs from all these houses, ranging from elaborately cut pieces to the most exquisitely simple ones.

You will certainly want to examine the nine-inch crystal candlesticks. They have stems as thin as pencils and their tops are like dove wings. A six-inch and a four-inch pair, from the Belgian house of Val St. Lambert, is broad and sturdy, with flanges set at various stages on the five-inch candlesticks to provide a mounting for the top. A Stuart crystal candlestick has a fine air-twist inside (decanter and tiny liqueur glasses match this one).

In China, the Town Shop offers Royal Worcester in the sage-green border pattern, "Fitzhugh", or the sprays of a pheasant, painted in 1760. Another pattern has a garland of flowers around the border; another has a twining of leaves and berries and a third one is perfectly plain with a double border of platinum.

Spode's "Fitzhugh" is a copy of the original in deep blue (blue or red) and the one in the Italian house of Giorini sends "Ferugia," which displays widely separated fruit and leaves against a white plate.

Bechth, the Trenton artist whose porcelain birds have received wide acclaim, has sent his colorful bird designs to the Town Shop shelves. There are fabulous treasures, not idle purchases, and you will examine each bird carefully before you decide which one will be your investment.

The hand-birds are done in natural colors for bisque, if you prefer) and they have been posed on the native plants that would be their natural resting places. The black-capped chickadee is particularly appealing, and the indigo bunting particularly striking. The bride who receives one of these has a memento in making.

FINAL PLANS MADE AT HUN

For Auxiliary Project, Exhibits of handicrafts, oil paintings, china, etchings, miniature trains, flower arrangements and hobbies will be on display next Saturday, April 29, at the Hun School.

The Hun School Auxiliary holds its annual Spring Festival for the benefit of the school's scholarship fund.

There will also be a demonstration on how to pack a beehive on the Mall, if weather permits. The Festival will be held from 1 to 4:30 when tea will be served.

Mrs. Joseph Kelsall of Penns Neck is general chairman of this year's fund-raising project. Committee chairmen include Mrs. Myra Johnson, exhibits; Mrs. R. L. Rodgers, tea and food table; Mrs. M. B. Landis, handicrafts; Mrs. S. C. Greenfield, white elephant table; Mrs. D. N. Penrose, program; and Mrs. J. P. Donahue, publicity.

Tickets, at $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12, will be available at the door.

WILL HOLD CARD PARTY

Friday Evening, The Business and Professional Women's Club will hold a dessert card party at Educational Testing Service on Nassau Road. Friday evening at 8.

Mrs. Polly Steele is chairman of the event, given for the benefit of the club's Scholarship Fund. Tickets may be obtained at the door or from any club member.

TO BUILD NEW POST OFFICE

In Plainsboro, a new post office will be built in Plainsboro, Congress Street, in the place where the old one was located. The building will have about 1,200 square feet and a loading platform and it will be built on the south side of the Princeton Road, about 125 feet east of Prospect Avenue. The site is approximately 12,000 square feet in size and will provide space for parking and the mailing room.

According to Postmaster R. L. Sohl, bidding forms, specifications and other data will be available about May 5. The Post Office Department will advertise for bids at that time.

THE PUBLIC IS INVITED

TO EAT LUNCH BY: Judy Cuffman of 73 Dempsey Avenue, Princeton High School student, and Bill Koenig of Paston Hall, Princeton University, take advantage of the weekly concert held every Wednesday (except the third Wednesday in each month, when a Rutgers band is booked) at 12:15 in the periodical room of the Public Library. The Library invites the public to attend free weekly recordings, which last approximately 40 minutes. Next Wednesday's offering will be Dvorak's Symphony No. 4 in G Major, Op. 88 played by the Cleveland Orchestra.

Taking second place in the Engineering Division of the "State Science Day" event sponsored by the New Jersey State Science Teachers, held this month at Rutgers University, was John Mather, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman W. Mather of 8 College Road, Briarwood, and Mrs. Mather and Mrs. John J. McNally of Cedar Lane, a junior at Notre Dame High School, placed fourth in the Chemistry Division. Mather is a senior at Princeton High School and a recent winner of a Westinghouse National Science Talent Award.

Logan A. Femberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Femberger of 100 of Monmouth Junction, has completed his initial course of Air Force basic military training. A graduate of Princeton High School, Almonte Femberger will attend the technical training course for Supply Specialists at Amarillo Air Force Base, Texas.

A recent graduate of the General Military Subjects School of the Air Service Basic Flying Course at Lejeune, N.C., is Marine FFC Douglas B. Rigg, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Rigg of Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction. Pfc. Rigg attended Princeton High School before enlisting in July, 1959.

Martin N. Hoyvik, radio seaman apprentice, U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hoyvik of Route 1, from the Bederman School at Allentown, Va.

Postmaster Charles F. Murray of the Princeton Post Office attended a Post Office convention, sponsored by the Post Office Department, held in mid-April at Boiling Springs, Pa. Professors of Penn State University conducted the seminar.

Named to the Freshman Dean's List at Harvard College were Peter B. Epstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Epstein of Allentown, Robert E. H. Bodine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Bodine, Blawenburg-Woolley Road, Hopewell. To be eligible for the Dean's List, students must have maintained at least a 3.5 average the previous semester.

Miss Eleanor M. Finelli, daughter of Mrs. Philomena Finelli of 143 Mountain Avenue, has been a Government Association representative for Class of 1963 at Douglas College.

Peter J. Kiernan, mathematics teacher at the Lawrenceville School, has been awarded a stipend by the National Science Foundation to attend the Bowdoin College Summer Institute of Mathematics from June 27 to August 6. Each teacher will receive $450 plus allowances for dependents and travel.

Named arm attendance chairman for the 60th anniversary banquet of the Rutgers University Cap and Skull Society, to be held April 30, is Robert Gwin, a member of Princeton's Princeton University. Gwin is a 1956 Rutgers graduate. Cap and Skull is a senior honor society at Rutgers.

Attending the four-day Eighth Annual Republican Woman's Conference held the first week in April at the Shady Dell Park Hotel in Washington, D.C. were the following members of the Women's Republican Club of Princeton: Mrs. Frank L. Eidsman, club president; Mrs. Pauline Clark, Mrs. Charles R. Erdman, Jr., Mrs. W. Barlow Levitt, and Mrs. L. T. Geety.

Dr. Alexander A. Nikolsky, a professor of aeronautical engineering, John C. Green Foundation, Princeton University, attended the annual meeting of the American Scientific Conference at Park City held this month at Dugway Proving Ground, Utah. The Advisory Panel, composed of 80 of the country's outstanding scientists, intellectuals and educators, assists the Secretary of the Army and the Chief of Staff.

Winner of a Phi Beta Kappa prize of $50 for excellence in creative endeavor is Miss Barbara Dilley of 80 Stockton Street, a senior at Mount Holyoke College. Miss Dilley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Dilley, who was awarded the prize for her original dance composition, "Melora." The work is based on Charles Laughton's adaptation of Steven Vincent Benet's long poem, "John Brown's Body," and was presented at the Dance Club concert at Mount Holyoke in February, with Miss Dilley dancing the leading role.

Mr. Charles T. Myers of 76 Rollingmead has been appointed chairman for the Annual Giving campaign of Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa. National goal for the campaign is $30,652.

MOVE UP TO 1960's OILHEAT

POCKETBOOK

1960's OILHEAT keeps money in your pocket. ■ Your monthly fuel bills are lower — far lower — than they'd be with any other fully automatic fuel. And this is especially true in a state like New Jersey where winters are long and hard. ■ But substantial savings are not the only reason so many thoughtful people insist on OILHEAT. They know that OILHEAT is clean . . .

comfortable . . . convenient and safe. They know that OILHEAT is the mark of a modern house . . . a house that has more dollar value on the market today and in the future. ■ 1950's research has made 1960's OILHEAT truly THE fuel of the Sixties. Be sure to insist on 1960's OILHEAT . . . whether you're converting, buying, or building. It's an investment.

At Hartland Hospital Policy is a neat package of real pay-power.

For example, the Hospital Policy, for example, I've chosen a plan that pays $18 a month for hospital room and board, $360 for miscellaneous hospital expenses, and a hospital schedule. Covers my whole family, including six kids—and there's no extra charge for more than 3 youngsters. I think that you can't afford to get getting top protection and real mileage on their insurance dollars should hog down to see:

WOMEN'S GOLF PLANNED
Opening Day Thursday. Six Princeton area residents are members of the Garden State Women's Golf Association, which will hold its opening day tournament this month at the Baltusrol Club at Springfield. Mrs. James J. Whelan of Princeton is president of the association. She has been involved in golf in its seven years and will defend the title she won here last summer during the week of July 15.

The association's annual championship will be held this summer over the Greenbrook Country Club course at North Caldwell. In August, a new event known as the Better Ball of Princeton Tournament will be played at Springfield.

In addition to Mrs. Whelan, Mrs. Robert Shaw of Princeton has been involved in the executive committee and a member of the nominating committee. Others who belong from Springfield are Mrs. Hans Bauer, Mrs. Robert Cullen, Mrs. Donald Strachan and Mrs. James Warga.

Physics (62) were three points behind, with Farr Hardaway in third place, with 50 points. Princeton's Lauder (44) continued to lead the "B" loop, but Shelton Motors was only two points behind and Walker's Gordon was third with 40 points.

Physics (65) maintained a three-point margin over Machine Development, over the Faculty League. Tiger Garage (48) led the "A" loop, with four games in the Industrial loop, with Nassau Service (34) in third spot; and Tiger Bus held a four-point lead over the Faculty League. The Women's League, The Mixed and Women's Industrial leagues were cancelled because of the holidays.

High individual games of the week included Bill Kitter, 241; John DeSousa, 244; and Bill Bathie, 212, in the "A" loop; and Fred Procaccini, 231; Howard McWorter, 225; Bill Bathie, 223; Fred Everett, 212; Joe Goldsmith, 211; Hayes and Bob Quick, 206 each; George Leffell, 205; Bill Murphy and Don Snyder, 202 each; Vince Picone, 201; and Bill Penelli, 200, in the "B" League.

To All Dog Lovers.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Sanctuary for Homeless Dogs (through its staff, which is myself) comes asking: For it is still a matter of food (or any sort), old blankets, towels or pieces of cloth. There are 50 dogs here now.

I am sorry that I did not get letters to all who helped us last year, and I should like to thank you now for your sympathy which I received and cheered us when tribulations came to this ridge. It is with a warm sense of privilege and pridefulness I remain to thank you for your help in the year ahead, grace and benefit as you have given.

Thoughts on Survival.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Your Joint Princeton Disaster Control Council has recently come with the apparent answer to the problem of disaster as evidenced by many people — and newspapers — throughout the nation.

Frequent comments are to the effect that it would be useless to attempt to save ourselves should we be struck by a bomb or similar device. This is one of the oldest problems faced by man, and yet the world has overcome many serious catastrophes.

You yourself (I am speaking to the reader of Americans not making disaster plans) you have life insurance, you have fire insurance, etc. You are, in these cases, thinking mainly of yourself.

In disaster planning as urged by the federal, state and local governments, the purpose is not only to indicate to you the possible and probable disasters that may affect individuals but to protect the community and state in which you live. If we lose property in a disaster, it is not possible to rebuild unless we have people to do it, so your safety is of the utmost importance.

We also hear that the frequent exercises and drills conducted throughout the nation and state are unnecessary and meaningless. That are — if you do not acquaint yourselves with the signals calling your attention to pending or possible disaster, and if these signals are disregarded or ignored.

They are — if you do not comply with the directions given to you when you are told that the shelters are not stocked with food and water. These exercises are held as a reminder to you of first principles in any disaster. If there are no signals, no directions from the public, it would not be necessary to repeat them so often.

We also hear that providing shelters is expensive. It can be as expensive as you wish to make it, but considerable protection is afforded you in your present home by the use of a bomb shelter, which you can add to and remain there until advised that it is safe to venture outside. Your radio (610-1240) will advise you when it is safe to leave.

Seek the safest part of the building (basement preferably). Don't be curious as to what is going on outside — you may be exposing yourselves to danger from radioactive dust.

The shelters in question are not the bomb-proof type; they are for use against a bomb. They may be used for other purposes — a den, a play room or extra bedroom. Princeton is not in itself a target area for a missile. We are, however, near enough to such areas to be considered under the use of fall-out protection.

Such shelters will give you an excellent chance of survival. Every effort should be made to reduce the life of the radioactive material to a point that exposure, though possibly harmful, will not be dangerously so.

The foregoing type disaster is one which many consider to be the sole purpose of your Disaster Control organization. This is not true.

Your Disaster Control organization is trying to prepare the community to cope with any disaster situation, whether it be fire, explosion, flood, windstorm, snowstorm, etc. These can occur at any time.

We are familiar with them in this country. The effects are not too different from disaster caused by enemy action — loss of life, loss of property, sick and injured, disruption of utilities, disruption of industry.

If we concentrate on knowing how to handle ourselves in these situations we can and must intelligently and effectively upon to face man-made disasters. We have only to add to our knowledge those things necessary for survival if faced with a bomb situation.

Think of the steps to be taken for survival as insurance, the protection of your family and property.

A nation-wide ALERT will be held on May 3, 4 and 5. Public participation will be required only on the afternoon of May 3.

The afternoon of the time will be utilized in the training of federal, state and local Disaster Control Personnel. The few minutes required for the public participation when these exercises are held seems a small amount of time to require your attention and should be weighed with the advantages of it giving a complete understanding and cooperation to them. We all hope that it will not be necessary to put them into effect, but it is better to know now what to do, and not after the fact.

NO-HITTER FOR LACKEY
Against Trenton Catholic, before the 1960 baseball season began, Princeton High School coach Harry Reid held "TOPIC TOPICS" that "Jack Lackey, who have had a good high school pitcher as this is in New Jersey." This week Lackey pitched a 10-inning, no-hitter against Trenton Catholic, generally one of the top teams in this section of the state.

The Little Tigers won their opener, played Tuesday at Trenton Catholic, 10-0. In the 10th, Lackey got his 10th save. Sunday, Lackey pitched a 3-1 win for the Little Tigers, in a 10-inning game.

After Five-Run First, Column did all he could in the first, but Princeton High School Tuesday to hand Princeton an Eastern League baseball game, chipped a single save for runs. The latter, however, in Game 2, and Black failed to follow up its advantage, eventually allowing the home forces to retire with a 10-1 win.

Wally Phillips, reliable in his earlier efforts this season, started on the mound for the Tigers but saw his margin whittled to 5-4 by the end of the fifth. Eddie Fife, who had taken over the starting job of his predecessor, Archie Freeman, bunted. The third baseman threw wild, passed first and when Hurley kept his eye on the ball, the runner curled a wild barge, trying to get out at the plate.

Lackey doubled to right in the sixth and scored on Jack Hawkins' sharp single over second for an insurance marker. The PHS pitcher walked four but fanned seven, and the only other even balls to be hit out of the infield.

PHS will face Trenton High at home Thursday afternoon. Long Beach is next Friday's opponent, on the shore team's diamond.

BOOKS, BOOKS, BOOKS — The Rev. Michael Muni is a bibliophile, and the collection of his Grever Avenue home holds over 3,500 volumes on religion, theology, psychology, psychiatry and related subjects. The pastor holds three of his favorite rare volumes: "Bible in the English Tongue," 1582; "The Works of Isaac Watts," 1785; Isaac Watts' sermons, collected in 1811, and a collection of bound pamphlets from the library of a mid-nineteen century Episcopalian clergyman.

News Of The CHURCHES

KNOW YOUR PASTOR

(20th in a Series)

Meet Mr. Muni. "Preaching Christ and trying to get people's lives to conform to His teaching and example is the most important work in my ministry." The Rev. Michael Muni of the Assembly of God church finds his fullest expression in teaching the Gospel. He has followed this way of life since he was about 18 years old.

His mother was a Catholic, but she was converted to the Pentecostal faith when Mr. Muni was 15 and his example of her life and faith helped influence him strongly. He attended services in the Pentecostal church and found that the church satisfied him.

"I became more peaceful and contented in my outlook on the present life," he recalls, "and gained a more satisfying view of the life to come. This faith dominated for me that I wanted to show others what it could do for them so I decided on the ministry."

At this time, Michael Muni was living in Trenton, where he was born. He joined the Trenton Fire Department and began to study for the ministry by correspondence from Oxford Theological Seminary in Texas. After receiving his Bachelor of Theology degree from Oxford, he became assistant pastor of the Christian Apostolic Church in Trenton, the church he had belonged to all during his years of ministerial study.

A Princeton Start. The Assembly of God base their belief on the occurrence of related events in the New Testament when the disciples, under the power of the Holy Spirit began to speak in "tongues;" that is, in forms of speech quite alien to their native language.

Princeton's Assembly of God church began in 1948 with a "Cottage Meeting" consisting of three families who met in each other's homes under Mr. Muni's guidance. The first "Cottage Meeting" began to gather in a room in what is now the Benson Building. Then Witherspoon Presbyterian Church became the general home, finally, in August of last year, the Assembly of God moved into its own brick church on the corner of North Harrison and Clearview.

Sixty members now comprise the congregation. In addition to regular Sunday services, there is a special service on Friday night in Italian and Biblical classes on Wednesday night. One of the Sunday school classes is an adult class conducted in Italian by Mrs. Mabel Symon teaches the adults. The school class, and Miss Jenny Totaro teaches the Young People.

"We're now a self-supporting church," Mr. Muni says. "We did not want to rely on tithes from the Princeton community when we conducted our building fund drive in 1964. So many people helped us, even though they didn't belong to our church."

Now Princeton has the price as well as the prestige!

You, too, may feel that Princeton has everything...is, in fact, New Jersey's most rewarding place to live. Where else such uncluttered space. Where else such beautifully cared for streets. Where else...another like Princeton's university. Where are the homes finer. And now it is all yours at a refreshing price. Here's honest Princeton luxury that begins with a plot that's well over a half acre. Beautiful exteriors of cedar shingles and brick. Breathtaking 24 x 21 recreation room. Dignified homes spacious in every aspect. Even an oversized 25-foot garage is included. The location—within 5 minutes of the Princeton station—is ideally convenient. Look all over...you won't find other homes of this quality and space at the price. Look all around Princeton...you won't find another new home that doesn't cost thousands more. Look and you'll want to live in Princeton Colonial Park!

The Washington 2-Story Colonial only $19,990—Four cross-ventilated bedrooms 23'2" x 13'5" living room • large entrance foyer and center hall • eat-in kitchen with built-in appliances • family room adjoining kitchen • separate dining room • laundry room • 25-foot garage • 200 x 125 land completely landscaped (front, sides and back) • Full bath upstairs, half bath downstairs.

The Hamilton Split Level only $19,990—Three bedrooms • Master bedroom has tremendous walk-in closet • L-shaped 24'6" x 21' recreation room • eat-in kitchen with built-in appliances • laundry room • 25-foot garage • huge storage areas • master bath plus spacious main bathroom • 200 x 125 land completely landscaped (front, sides and back).
